Joachim Müller-Lencá

is an award-winning international designer, principal and owner of Kame Design in San Francisco since 1997.

His work is characterized by an expressive, direct visual language that always comes to the point. Diverse background and interest in Asia and Europe make him quintessentially cross-cultural, between modernist and experimental. His approach is integrative, not additive: Shape and meaning turn into a coherent One, getting to the essence with consistency and simplicity. Powerful fresh impact and surprise are delivered through energetic, percussive visual language and novel, unusual musical color.

Useful design need not be dry, and entertaining imagery not shallow.

Joachim's capabilities span across information design, logos and identity design, illustration and character creation, typography and typeface design, offering 25 years of experience in print media and 13 years in web and interface design. Clients include Wired magazine, FontShop, Samsung America, Bank of America, Skidmore Owings & Merrill, USA Network, Panasonic, Reebok, Barclays Bank, Pentagram, Organic Online and more.

Past experience and career:

- As Lead Information Designer at Barclays Global Investors/Wells Fargo Nikko, San Francisco, Joachim art-directed and designed retirement and investment information in printed materials, interfaces of financial planning software and the company web site, the corporate identity, and conference presentations.
- As Principal of his own studio in Barcelona, work included exhibitions and catalogs in conjunction with the 1992 Olympics and other conventions, redesign of the shields of the city districts, and the graphic identity of the city's markets.

- As Senior Designer at The Understanding Business in San Francisco, he created cover designs, information design and layout concepts, illustrations and pictogram systems for the Pacific Bell SMART Yellow Pages.

To date, Joachim has designed 11 typefaces with 21 styles, available from Adobe, FontShop, Linotype, Agfa-Monotype, MyFonts and Typebox. His typographic work in Latin and Kanji scripts has garnered 4 awards from the Morisawa International Type Design Competition, including the Gold Prize and two Judge's Prizes, as well as 4 Certificates of Excellence in Type Design from 'bukva:raz!', ATypI's type design contest in collaboration with the UN.

Joachim has taught and lectured on information design and type design in the US, Canada, Japan, Hong Kong, Macau, France, Spain, Italy and Switzerland. He has written for and was written up in leading design publications in the US, Japan, Hong Kong, France, Germany and Belgium. His work has been reproduced in over 20 professional books worldwide. He is a member of Association Typographique Internationale and of the Type Directors Club of New York, and a U.S. Alien of Extraordinary Ability.

Joachim graduated with honors from the Basel School of Design in Switzerland, having studied with Armin Hofmann and Wolfgang Weingart. At the Cooper Union School of Art, New York, he added studies in Video, Film and Painting.

comparison of all countries' front pages reveals rather diverse results due to independent managements, but more consistency is desired from redesign

The image displays six screenshots of the FontShop website's international versions, arranged in two rows of three. Each screenshot shows a different country's homepage with its specific design and content.

- Top Left (Germany): Shows a yellow-themed homepage with a large 'ä' character. Text includes "FontShop Berlin, Schriften und Bilder suchen, vergleichen, downloaden" and "15 JAHRE FONTSHOP".
- Top Middle (Australia): Shows a yellow-themed homepage with a large 'ghi' character. Text includes "welcome" and "FontShop Australia".
- Top Right (Others): Shows a yellow-themed homepage with a woman smiling. Text includes "Think Pink." and "the now haus".
- Bottom Left (Austria): Shows a yellow-themed homepage with a large 'aa' character. Text includes "FontShop, die Spezialisten für Schrift, Bild und Software." and "Warte, bises' Frühling Wind...".
- Bottom Middle (Belgium): Shows a dark-themed homepage featuring a superhero-like figure. Text includes "FontShop" and "FontShop Belgium".
- Bottom Right (Others): Shows a yellow-themed homepage with a woman's face. Text includes "KISS ME" and "This is not news gothic. It's better."

Dear Jaszline,
no name here... are you still looking for a document?

you must be real! looks like we have influences and likes in common. nice to see both references and the pen in your fist. 100% my favorite Japanese artist is Shigeo Fukuda, then Katsushika Hokusai, and his mommies, check out, great it's every where nowdays.

my friend discovered in December "SonicFox" we did paperplane-papar, we shared it in a couple times and last week, received with him, and his mommies, and his mommies, check out, great it's every where nowdays.

Last summer a magazine page and printed a few pages for you to see: www.sonicfox.com/sonicdesign/ - and my other website is www.samdesign.com

Hope to hear from you,
yoshi

usa network asked us to create 2 titles (aka logos) for two interstitial shows that tie into their 'characters welcome' theme. we said 'let's go' and cranked out over 150.

our two-headed man, beer mug and fangonaut landed on national television. we were quite happy with the irreverent finalists that usa picked for the 'character roadtrip' show.
